

Charles Walker Lounsbury Jr.

August 8, 1948 - March 5, 2018

Charles Walker Lounsbury Jr., 69, of Florence, SC, died March 05, 2018. Arrangements in care of Charleston Cremation Center and Funeral Home.

Comments

---

“ I had the great fortune of going to work for Sonoco and being hired by Charlie. I was a young new engineer just graduating from college. Charlie was a kind and generous with his mentoring way, just what I needed at my early stages of development. Although I did not stay with Sonoco for very long, I think back on those days working for Charlie in Chicopee, and wonder what my life would have been like if I stayed. I do know one thing for certain, it was a true joy working for such a brilliant man. When I look at myself and how far I've come and grown in my 38 years since being first so blessed to have Charlie as my manager. I only wish I had one more chance to cross paths with him to share my joy, and to thank him for setting me off well on such a wonderful journey. Nicole, God Bless You. And Thank You too, for the fun and laughs we shared. I'll always remember you both, as you both were so kind, and generous with your friendship. I'll hold you both dear in my thoughts forever. Mario Giordano

Mario Giordano - May 03, 2019 at 10:59 PM

---

“ We just today learned of Charlie's death. We will tip a glass this evening in celebration of the life of a fine and much respected colleague. We will hold Charlie's family in our hearts during this holiday season. May you find peace.
David and Jane Crutchfield

David Crutchfield - December 14, 2018 at 05:07 PM

---

“ Thoughts and prayers for the Lounsbury family. Charlie was a good man. I worked with him at Sonoco. As Cecil Watkins said, Charlie was a brilliant man but never took himself too seriously. That is something I have always admired about him and it is something quite rare in men these days.

rick richey - March 09, 2018 at 09:06 AM

---

“ Rick Richey lit a candle in memory of Charles Walker Lounsbury Jr.

rick richey - March 09, 2018 at 09:01 AM

“ Charlie was a good engineer, one of the smartest persons I have ever worked with. If there was a tough problem to solve, he was the person to go to. He never took himself too seriously, and always found humor in whatever he did. He was a good friend and will be greatly missed by all of us who knew him.

Cecil Watkins - March 07, 2018 at 10:15 PM